ABOUT SEMINAR

Extra ordinary development in the field of molecular biology has provided us with complete human genomic sequence which was once a dream. Spectacular success in the methods to track genes for genetic genes of unknown etiology will help in more specific and intelligent drug designing for communicable and non-communicable diseases with less side effects. This attracted us to extensively enhance knowledge from experts. Our topic "Molecular Biology & Genomics : A Bullseye for future Pharmacy" is planned for enhancing and exchange of knowledge from experts working for same target i.e. human welfare. This will also be helpful towards research considering the genetic make-up of an individual person. Also by knowing diseases in advance we can work with precision & accuracy for identifying active compounds with real knowledge of its target or mechanisms.
