Programme Summary/Details:

On September 25, 2018, NSS volunteers of VIVA Institute of Pharmacy undertook the task of fostering creativity among students by organizing a Dry Rangoli Competition, a unique event where participants were challenged to create Rangoli designs using only waste materials. This eco-friendly initiative aimed not only to promote artistic expression but also to instill a sense of environmental responsibility. The event witnessed enthusiastic participation from 18 teams including Volunteers and non-volunteers of NSS, who not only facilitated the competition but also showcased their own artistic talents. 22 NSS Volunteers had overall supported and made the necessary arrangement for execution of the event. Through this event, the NSS team successfully blended the spirit of creativity with sustainability, inspiring students to rethink the potential of discarded materials while promoting teamwork and artistic endeavors within the community
